October 25, 2018

Introduction

The Canadian Securities Administrators (the CSA or we) are publishing for a 60-day comment period proposed amendments (the Proposed Custody Amendments) to certain custody-related provisions of National Instrument 31-103 Registration Requirements, Exemptions and Ongoing Registrant Obligations (NI 31-103) as a consequence of recent custody-related amendments to National Instrument 81-102 Investment Funds (NI 81-102) which were made as part of the “Modernization of Investment Fund Product Regulation – Alternative Funds” project (the NI 81-102 Amendments). The NI 81-102 Amendments were published in final form on October 4, 2018<sup>1</sup>.

The text of the Proposed Custody Amendments is contained in Annex A of this notice and will also be available on the websites of certain CSA jurisdictions, including:

Substance and Purpose

We are proposing amendments to section 14.6.1 of NI 31-103 to reflect the recent amendments to subsection 6.8(2) of NI 81-102.

<sup>1</sup> Provided all necessary ministerial approvals are obtained, the NI 81-102 Amendments will come into force on January 3, 2019 in all CSA jurisdictions.

The NI 81-102 Amendments codify existing relief granted to investment funds subject to NI 81-102 regarding the use of cleared derivatives. Specifically, section 6.8 of NI 81-102 was amended to allow these investment funds to deal with futures commission merchants and clearing corporations in accordance with the rules of those organizations for cleared over-the-counter derivatives.

Section 14.6.1 of NI 31-103 sets out acceptable custodial practices for certain margin and security interests which codified existing custodial best practices of registered firms. The permissible activities in this section are similar to the custodial practices for investment funds permitted under NI 81-102 in respect of portfolio assets being held as margin for certain derivatives transactions outside of Canada. For this reason, we are proposing amendments to section 14.6.1 of NI 31-103 to align with the amendments to subsection 6.8(2) of NI 81-102 described above.

The intent of the Proposed Custody Amendments is to give all clients and investment funds of registered firms the same ability to deposit assets with certain dealers in respect of cleared over-the-counter derivatives. In the absence of making the Proposed Custody Amendments, this option would only be available to investment funds that are subject to NI 81-102.

Background

On July 27, 2017 custody-related amendments to NI 31-103 were published in final form, and these amendments came into force on June 4, 2018. In the CSA notice<sup>2</sup> that accompanied those amendments, we indicated that additional changes might be made to these custody-related provisions as a consequence of the work being done by the CSA as part of the NI 81-102 Amendments. The Proposed Custody Amendments are being proposed as a result of the NI 81-102 Amendments.

Summary of the Proposed Custody Amendments

Subsection 14.6.1(1) of NI 31-103 is being amended to add the following two definitions: “cleared specified derivative” and “regulated clearing agency”.

Subsection 14.6.1(2) is being expanded to permit clients or investment funds of a registered firm to deposit cash or securities with members of regulated clearing agencies in respect of certain prescribed margin transactions outside of Canada. Subsection 14.6.1(2) is also being expanded to include an additional type of permitted margin transaction, namely, transactions involving cleared specified derivatives.
